Dear ENERGY STAR® Computers Stakeholders:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) would like to remind stakeholders that as of March 2, 2020, EPA-recognized certification bodies (CBs) were required to cease certification of new computers to the Version 7 specification and may only certify computers to the Version 8.0 specification. Certification bodies may continue submitting administrative modifications to existing computer certifications to the Version 7 specification until July 15, 2020. After this date, only computers certified to the Version 8.0 specification will appear on the ENERGY STAR website and certified products list.

Please contact EPA at computers@energystar.gov with any questions regarding the specification. CBs should direct questions concerning the submittal of certified computers to Certification@energystar.gov.

Thank you for your support of the ENERGY STAR program.
